

THE LITTLE MOUSE AND THE CHEESE

In a big city there is a mouse called Topi. He is really hungry.

- Oh! I'm hungry. I love cheese. Is there any cheese?

The little mouse sees a house.

- Oh, what a beautiful house! It has got a living-room, a kitchen, a bath room, a bedroom.

The little mouse smells cheese.

- Oh, I smell cheese in this house. Cheese, cheese, cheese.

Then the little mouse runs into the house. He goes into the living-room first. He looks under the table, on the sofa and under a cushion.

-Oh, no! There isn't any cheese!

He goes into the bedroom and looks under the bed and in the wardrobe.

- Oh, no! There isn't any cheese!

Then he goes into the bathroom and looks in the bath and in the cupboard.

- Oh, no! There isn't any cheese! Where is the cheese?

(Now the children can answer the question)

Then the little mouse goes into the kitchen and...

- Oh, what a nice smell!

He opens the fridge and...

- Oh, wow, cheese, cheese, cheese. Here it is! I love cheese.
